Security over the internet

No data transmission over the internet or website can be guaranteed to be secure from intrusion. However, we maintain commercially reasonable physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect your personal information in accordance with data protection legislative requirements.

All information you provide to us is stored on our or our subcontractors secure servers, and accessed and used subject to our security policies and standards. We use hosted services (such as Microsoft Office 365, Rackspace Cloud UK and Mailchimp) in the course of our business, including for the provision of marketing and sales activities.

Where we have given you (or where you have chosen) a password which enables you to access certain parts of our site, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential and for complying with any other security procedures that we notify you of. We ask you not to share your password with anyone.

Sensitive information between your browser and our Website is transferred in encrypted form using Secure Socket Layer (“SSL”). When transmitting sensitive information, you should always make sure that your browser can validate the KDVI certificate.

Exports outside the EEA

Your personal information may be accessed by staff or suppliers in, transferred to, and/or stored at, a destination outside the UK/European Economic Area (EEA) in which data protection laws may be of a lower standard than in the UK/EEA. Regardless of location or whether the person is an employee or contractor, we will impose the same data protection safeguards that we deploy inside the UK/EEA.

Certain countries outside the UK/EEA have been approved by the UK Government/European Commission as providing essentially equivalent protections to UK/EEA data protection laws and therefore no additional safeguards are required to export personal information to these jurisdictions. In countries which have not had these approvals, we will either ask for your consent to the transfer or transfer it subject to UK Government/European Commission approved contractual terms that impose equivalent data protection obligations directly on the recipient, unless we are permitted under applicable data protection law to make such transfers without such formalities.

Please contact us if you would like further details of the specific safeguards applied to the export of your personal data.

How long we retain your personal data

We will hold the above information for as long as is necessary in order to conduct the processing detailed in the table above, deal with any specific issues that may raise, or otherwise as is required by law or any relevant regulatory body. Once your account is terminated or deactivated, we shall delete the personal data relating to your account within 7 working days. Some personal data may need to be retained for longer than this to ensure KDVI can comply with applicable laws and internal compliance procedures, including retaining your email address for marketing communication suppression if you have opted not to receive any further marketing.

If information is used for two purposes, we will retain it until the purpose with the latest period expires but we will stop using it for the purpose with a shorter period when that period expires. We restrict access to your personal information to those persons who need to use it for the relevant purpose(s). Our retention periods are based on business needs and your information that is no longer needed is either irreversibly anonymised (and the anonymised information may be retained) or securely destroyed.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

Data gathered and stored in the Development Tool Platform is archived 6 months after the programme end date (the last day the data gathered from the survey is planned to be used). When data is archived it is stripped of all identifying personal data- name, email, and comments. Non-identifying data (gender, job role, industry, survey scores etc.) is kept within the system. Archiving takes place automatically once a month on the last calendar day of the month. Any deviation from this default process is agreed in writing with each client, who has the responsibility to inform participants of the change to the standard process as laid out in KDVI documents and explained on our Development Tools Platform.

Your rights

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018, you have various rights in relation to your personal data. All of these rights can be exercised by contacting us at data.protection@kdvi.com.

In certain circumstances, you have the following rights in relation to your personal data:

Rights	Details
Right of access	You have the right to obtain from us information as to whether your personal data is being processed and, where that is the case, access to such personal data.
Right to Rectification	We will use reasonable endeavours to ensure that your personal information is accurate. In order to assist us with this, you should notify us of any changes to the personal information that you have provided to us by sending us a request to rectify your personal data where you believe the personal data we have is inaccurate or incomplete.
Right to erasure /	Asking us to delete all of your personal data will result in KDVI deleting your personal data without undue delay (unless there is a legitimate and legal

'Right to be forgotten'	reason why KDVI is unable to delete certain of your personal data, in which case we will inform you of this in writing).
Right to restriction of processing	You have the right to ask us to stop processing your personal data at any time.
Right to data portability	You have the right to request that KDVI provides you with a copy of all of your personal data and to transmit your personal data to another data controller in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, where it is technically feasible for us to do so and the processing is based on consent or contractual performance.
Right to complain	You have the right to lodge a complaint to a supervisory authority such as the Information Commissioner's Office in the UK (see www.ico.org.uk). Although we encourage our customers to engage with us in the event they have any concerns or complaints.

KDVI will not ordinarily charge you in respect of any requests we receive to exercise any of your rights detailed above; however, if you make excessive, repetitive or manifestly unfounded requests, we may charge you an administration fee in order to process such requests or refuse to act on such requests. Where we are required to provide a copy of the personal data undergoing processing this will be free of charge; however, any further copies requested may be subject to reasonable fees based on administrative costs.

Asking us to stop processing your personal data or deleting your personal data will likely mean that you are no longer able to use KDVI's Services, or at least those aspects of the Services which require the processing of the types of personal data you have asked us to delete, which may result in you no longer being able to use the Services.

Where you request KDVI to rectify or erase your personal data or restrict any processing of such personal data, KDVI may notify third parties to whom such personal data has been disclosed of such request. However, such third party may have the right to retain and continue to process such personal data in its own right.

Changes to this policy

Any changes we make to our privacy policy in the future will be posted on this page, and where appropriate, notified to you by email. We therefore encourage you to review it from time to time to stay informed of how we are processing your information.
